

ARTUS joins EOS RISQ as an Associate Partner

Baden-Baden, January 21st, 2020

The ARTUS GROUP has joined the international broker partner network EOS RISQ and has been expanding its worldwide service for its customers through this strategic cooperation since the beginning of this year. EOS RISQ is an international partnership of privately owned brokers – each a market leader in their country - offering multinational insurance programs and risk management services for European and global clients. Partners in the network include Assiteca (Italy), Diot (France) and Vanbreda Risk & Benefits (Benelux). Additionally, EOS RISQ works with approximately 150 local brokers worldwide. Many of these same firms have been serving international ARTUS GROUP clients abroad for several years.

The ARTUS GROUP has been active internationally since its founding and was a leading member of a European-focused network for over 20 years. These established relationships remain, so that clients and partners will continue to benefit from familiar, trusting partnerships. "While we are expanding our international focus through the new cooperation with EOS RISQ, we are keeping a close eye on our origin, the German "Mittelstand" (mid-sized enterprises). We are broadening our perspective, thus offering our customers local presence and global competence," comments Alexandra Ganz-Cosby, the CEO of ARTUS AG and head of ARTUS International, who has worked in the global insurance industry in Paris, Los Angeles and Chicago as well as in neighboring Switzerland for many years.

"Our service is becoming more comprehensive as our clients' business is becoming increasingly complex and international," she adds. Companies are exposed to international risks, even without foreign branches. By simply delivering products to foreign countries or locating employees abroad, a company is already subject to typical country-specific risks. For this reason, the individual and independent advice from locally experienced partners, which the ARTUS GROUP is now expanding within the broker partner network EOS RISQ, is all the more valuable.
